

POLICEMAN SHOT BOY BY MISTAKE

Fired at Escaping Negro and Mortally Wounded Lad of 16
Years Who Was On His Way
Home from a Theatre.

CALL TO HALT SCARED
YOUTH AND COMPANION.

Woman Had Complained of Negro Intruders in Home, and Patrolman Made Desperate
Efforts to Make Arrest.

Sixteen-year old John Hallinan, one of six children of John Hallinan, an employee of the Street Cleaning Department, is dying at St. Mary's Hospital from a bullet wound inflicted by Policeman James McGowan, of the Atlantic Avenue station, who shot at a negro he was pursuing.

The boy had been to the theatre with a friend, John Rogers, who lived with in a few doors of his home. They were turning the corner of Albany Avenue near their homes when they heard the sound of hurrying footsteps.

Both boys stopped when they heard the police call of "Stop, or I'll fire." This cry was repeated and the two boys started to dodge behind a tree, when the flash of an exploded shell in a revolver burst out in front of them and young Hallinan fell to the ground with a fatal wound in his abdomen.

The shot had been fired by Policeman McGowan. He had been on beat near the Hallinan home when a woman rushed into the street and told him that a number of negroes were destroying her furniture.

He got into the house just as the negroes were going out. As one of them went by him he threw a club at the policeman. McGowan took up the chase and the negro stopped and threw stones back at his pursuer. Then in the heat of the chase McGowan ordered the negro to stop, and as he failed to do so he fired. The bullet went into the back of the boy, who was returning to his home.

Later McGowan found the negro in the cellar of a house within a few doors of the police station. When the negro was arraigned in the Gates Avenue Court he admitted that he had thrown stones at McGowan. McGowan, however, declared that he did not believe that a bullet from his pistol had injured the boy.

BULLETS FLY AT YACHTING PARTY

Became Before Dawn Over
Oyster Bed, a Watchman
Mistakes Girls and Their Escorts for Pirates.

SATVILLE, L. I. Sept. 1.—There was great excitement on Great South Bay before dawn to-day, the town being awakened by pistol shots, the screams of young women and shouts of men. Crowds flocked to the beach, where it was learned that the racket arose through a party of the young men and women of the village taking an innocent sail in a big sloop on the bay and becoming alarmed over an oyster bed.

A vigilant watchman took them for pirates and banged away with a shotgun at them. The screams and shouts came from the yachting party as they dodged the bullets.

Several weeks ago the oyster planters complained that their beds were being plundered and one man was caught and convicted for stealing the oysters. Since then a watchman had been employed by the planters to protect their oyster beds at night. Last night he was on duty when he saw the sloop sailing very slowly toward the shore, and noticed that it was right over a bed of oysters. He surmised that those aboard must be oyster pirates at work and opened fire on the party.

The latter for a few minutes were not aware they were being fired upon, but the fact that they were targets was brought to their minds rather forcibly when the bullets began to whiz over their heads and pierce the sails. Immediately there was a panic on the yacht and several of the young women had to be restrained from jumping into the water.

They screamed and the men shouted to the watchman to try to make him understand who they were, but the firing continued for some little time. Either the watchman was a poor marksman or else he did not shoot to hit, as nobody was injured and the party landed on the shore badly scared.

I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh, and took a great deal of medicine without any benefit. I had continual headache, my cheeks had grown purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor, and I coughed incessantly. I heard of your S. S. S. and wrote you. I commenced to use it, and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease.

I had Nasal Catarrh for years for which I used S. S. S. with very gratifying results. I tried local applications for some time, and getting no permanent relief I came to the conclusion that the seat of the trouble was in the blood. Knowing S. S. S. to be a good blood medicine I began its use, and after using it for some little while it did away entirely with the offensive mucus in the nostrils, and I did not have to hawk and spit, especially in the morning, to dislodge the catarrhal matter.

The filthy secretions and foul mucus that are continually dropping back into the throat, fluid their way into the stomach and are absorbed into the blood. Catarrh then becomes constitutional, and the only way to get rid of it is through the blood. Write us if you have Catarrh, and our physicians will advise you entirely free of any charge.

How did you happen to learn of S. S. S. without a nurse? asked the Court. Well, I was kidnapped by a pretty young girl, she enticed me away, I replied. He did not give any particulars of the kidnapping, and he was remanded to the police station to await further action. He was in the confessional business.

PRISONER SAYS HE WAS ENTICED FROM HOME, BUT GIVES NO DETAILS.
HOBOKEN, N. J., Sept. 1.—"Enticed from home by a pretty young girl" was the explanation given by William P. Jenkins, of Baiton, Pa., when arraigned before Recorder Stanton to-day. Jenkins says he is forty-two years old. He stands about 4 feet 3 inches. He went into a store at No. 131 Washington street yesterday afternoon and asked permission to use the telephone, which was granted. After he finished, it was charged, he ran away without having paid for the use of the telephone. He was caught and arrested. He told the Recorder that he had never drank anything stronger than tea and coffee in his life.

BOY SHOT DOWN BY POLICEMAN WITH BAD AIM.

John Hallinan

DIDN'T REMEMBER
STABBING OFFICER

Western Draughtsman Arrested for Wrecking Room in Hotel
Imperial Couldn't Recollect and is Discharged.

Arthur F. Millard, or Arthur F. Murray, as he also called himself, the young draughtsman, of Duluth, Minn., or South Superior, Wis., or Chicago, Ill., as he has given his address at various times, who wrecked his room in the Hotel Imperial Monday night and stabbed Policeman Armin, of the West Thirtieth street station, when the officer tried to subdue him, was arraigned to-day before Magistrate Breen in Jefferson Market Court. He was penitent for his actions and, according to his statement, remembered little of what had happened.

After Magistrate Breen had heard his story, and as Policeman Armin did not wish to press his complaint for the stabbing, Millard was dismissed. Millard told the Magistrate that he was laboring under the delusion that some one was attacking him when he stabbed Armin. He had come to New York in search of a position and he was a civil engineer graduated from the University of Wisconsin and came to New York with the idea of getting a position in the city engineering office.

When Millard was discharged he offered to pay Armin's medical expenses.

DIES IN LODGING-HOUSE.
Michael Prehada, forty-two years old, a resident of Wolston, Pa., died suddenly in a lodging-house at No. 84 Greenwich street, to-day. The cause of his death is not known.

WITHIN three years we have established a system of retailing that sells to smokers more than 200,000,000 cigars annually with but one rehandling between the smoker and the place where the tobacco grows. It is the only great advance made toward improving and developing the cigar industry in the last thirty years. A particularly good example this week is the
